An Act for the improvement of the Public Roads and Bridges in Volusia County, providing for the employment of convict labor under certain conditions, and for the levy and collection of a road and bridge tax, and the means of its expenditure.

The County Commissioners shall audit the same and provide for the payment from the road and bridge fund of the several claims provided that nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit the County Commissioners of said County from having any public road worked by convict labor or bridge erected or repaired under the existing laws.

A New Industry.

It is reported that the E. W. Bond Company will establish another enterprise in connection with their mammoth sawmill here, viz, a plant to distil turpentine from the waste products of the mill and stave factory—sawdust, slabs, edgings and log ends will supply a vast amount of material for the new plant, and these are entirely profitless, save the dust used as fuel in the mill.

Destroyed by Fire.

A forest fire raged two days in the turpentine tract on Deep Creek, before a posse of men subdued it. About 50,000 boxes are said to have been burned, which implies a serious loss to the proprietors. The grade road to DeLand burned Saturday night and Sunday. The pinestraw on that road has been nearly all destroyed by fire.

C. E. Social.

The poverty social Friday evening attracted more than 75 persons and netted the Christian Endeavor Society almost $8. It was the only effort toward entertainment that the society has made for two years, and its success is very gratifying to those in charge. Mrs. J. R. Hurst won the prize, as a depreid ragpicker, for being the best representation of poverty, for the ladies, and Mr. Kaseman, as a hobo, for the gentlemen.

FURIES IN THE ARENA.

The Wrestling Matches Between Women in Japan.

Describing a wrestling match between women in Japan, a writer says: "The spectators arranged themselves in two sides, each led by a captain. They sat cross legged around the platform in the dirt, all but the two chosen to begin, who advanced into the center with the umpire. They squatted upon their feet and bowed to each other slowly and solemnly. Politeness thus being fulfilled, they stood up again and bent over opposite one another like two gamecocks, watching intently for a chance to seize an advantage. During the preliminaries the audience was tense with expectation. Then suddenly the women sprang, hissing at each other furiously and gnashing their teeth, at first by stimulating ferocity to spur themselves up to greater excitement, but, after a few clutches, in deadly feminine earnest, the umpire meanwhile buzzing close to them as they swayed around the narrow ring.

"Any and all holds seemed fair means to the end of pushing a combatant over the edge. Sometimes with a clean throw one woman landed her opponent, sprawling in the midst of her friends. This was the signal for the umpire to begin, 'Hitotsu, futatsu, misu, yotsu, itsutsu' one, two, three, four, five, in a series of irregular and disconnected squeaks, and before he ceased counting another wrestler from the losing side jumped up to meet the champion, who stood pouting, hissing and spitting like a boiling kettle in the center of the arena.

"This time there were no preliminaries. A wild rush, and like two furies or two beasts the women were struggling again. Some affected quick clutches, some locked their adversaries in their arms and stood still for a full five minutes. Some picked up their opponents almost at once and threw them bodily over the ring, while others rolled over with them."—Chicago News.

A Lively Roman Sauce.

Garam, the black green sauce of the Romans, was a species of universal condiment, but its principal use was for fish. The recipe is as follows: Let the cook take several fishes; it matters not much which, but mackerel are the best for the purpose. Let him take out their entrails and put them in vinegar and leave them there for ten days. Then let them be taken out and dried and powdered in a mortar with pepper, fennel, roots of dandelion, mint, thyme, sage and a little ginger and well mixed, after which the powder must be put in jars, together with honey, and left to ferment during several weeks. When ready for the table it must be mixed with Falernian wine.

A Jamaican Lady Speaks Highly of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mrs. Michael Hart, wife of the superintendent of Cart Service at Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies Islands, says that she has for some years used Chamberlain's Cough Remedies for coughs, croup and whooping cough and has found it very beneficial. She has implicit confidence in it and would not be without a bottle of it in her home. Sold by all druggists.

Local and Personal Items

The Misses Enig started Wednesday for a trip to Cuba. They go to learn of the people, the industries and resources of our fussy little protegee, and will return here for the rest of the winter, after two weeks of sightseeing there.

Rev. and Mrs. Welles decided to reduce their large library before moving to a new pastorate, and have answered two calls for religious book donations. About forty dollars worth were sent to the Baptist Collegiate Institute at Sylva, N. C., and a box of books to the Baptist Publishing Society at Rio Janerio, Brazil. There is still a demand for books at both these institutions.

Rev. Mr. Sturgis, colporteur and missionary for the Indian River Baptist Association, will preach in the Baptist church next Sabbath at the usual hour for morning service. This society pledges $15.00 per year for the work.

Tourists and visitors are told at adjacent towns that a square meal and a night's lodging cannot be obtained in Lake Helen. This is not true, nor is it fair for our neighbors to dissuade travelers from coming here. Hotel Harlan in the Pines was never a more inviting place than now; three boarding houses have been opened and there are a few rooms to be secured for those who wish to do light housekeeping or take meals out.

The University Glee Club Saturday evening. Don't miss the best musical entertainment that will come this way in many a year. The ladies of the Village Improvement Association have secured it.

A water famine threatened those who depend on wind power for pumping, till the gale of Sunday evening started the pumps. Florida has the reputation of laziness and has "suro" earned it the past four months, for it has not energy enough to blow or rain. Fruit growers are anxious lest the prolonged drouth injure fruit prospects for next year.

February 7 is the date of the lecture by President Lincoln Hulley in this place.

J. P. Mace shipped a car load of oranges Tuesday, but the rush of packing fruit is nearly over.

The mockingbirds and redbirds have tuned their spring lures; the yellow jessamine is in bloom; can these be mistaken?

Miss Willie McGill has spent a very pleasant month with her brother John and family and returned this week to her home in Tampa to resume her duties in a telephone office.

Mrs. Noble has been suffering with a severe attack of the grip. Maynard Bond is also wrestling with the same insidious enemy.

The Misses Marjorie Mace and Corrine Pelton came home from the University Friday with a well-developed display of measles, which detracted slightly from their natural beauty and greatly from their comfort.

Miss Annie Griffith Sundayed with friends at Smyrna.

A hack from DeLand meets the morning train from the east here, and the evening train from the east, saving DeLand passengers the ride to Orange City by rail, and giving them the ride by the beautiful Winnemissett and Blue Lakes by carriage.

N. A. Roberts is considering the establishment of a milk route. If he can secure the cows it is a go, and milk is what the babes in these woods most need.
